Russia Rebuffs U.S. Plan To Solve Laotian Crisis

Ohio Assembly Now Down to Real Business

State-of-the-State Message Triggers Flow of Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican-run 1961 session of the legislature finally is in orbit.

Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle kicked the session off the ground with an almost-mild state-of-the-state message recounting accomplishments and hopes for future cooperation with the GOP lawmakers.

The second-stage rocket was the start of introduction of bills in the Ohio House. Nineteen measures—some of them politically explosive—were dropped in the House hopper.

How "far out the session eventually gets depends upon the booster power of future developments. Those developments could send things 'way out, or, on the other hand the seasoned Republican leadership could call the whole thing off before conditions get too rough.

The Senate Tuesday received no bills, but took under study several constitutional amendment proposals. Both houses scheduled sessions at 1:30 p. m. today, indicating plans for a four-day work week this week, ending Thursday.

One of the constitutional proposals, offered by Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, would give the voters a chance to decide whether the governor should have the power to reduce appropriation items and veto certain sections of other bills rather than the entire bill. He now has the power to veto—not reduce—items in appropriation bills. On other bills, the governor now must veto entire measures if they contain even a single word he cannot stomach.

The House received a proposed constitutional amendment from a group of Cleveland Democratic legislators designed to end rural and smalltown control of the Ohio House. The constitution now provides that every county, no matter how small, must have at least one representative in the House. The big-city proposal would drop that provision and permit the state to revert to election of representatives by districts based on population, a move which would increase big-city representation.

Three of the House bills dealt with Gov. DiSalles proposal in a special session late in 1960 to increase the maximum unemployment benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks. The governor lost his bid for a temporary extension of the benefit period.

The bills introduced Tuesday approach the problem in different ways: One provides an automatic "trigger clause which would extend benefits whenever unemployment reaches a certain level; another would extend the maximum period now on an emergency basis until the legislature can decide upon a permanent solution; the third would extend the benefit period permanently.

Another major bill attacked the problem pointed up last year when Gov. DiSalle ordered a study of the collectibility of thousands of unpaid bills for patient care in state institutions. The proposed measure would require that in no

Move To Sidetrack Filibuster Fuss Fuels Another Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership move to sidetrack a fight over strengthening the Senate's antifilibuster rule fueled fresh controversy today and left prospects for a vote in doubt.

A motion to refer the dispute to the Senate Rules Committee for study was offered late Tuesday by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana with the backing of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

But liberals of both parties rose in protest and Mansfield's attempt to obtain agreement to vote on the motion Friday was blocked.

Ever since the Senate met Jan. 3 it has been caught up in a dispute over whether to change its rules to make it easier to break a filibuster. It now takes a two-third majority of senators voting.

Mansfield, in moving to refer the issue to the Rules Committee for hearings, said he wanted to avoid a long, disruptive fight at the start of the session that would delay action on President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program.

As chairman of the Rules Committee, he pledged to leave no stone unturned to bring back for action later in the session a measure to place a tighter curb on filibusters.

Leaders of a bipartisan group of 23 senators backing a proposal to permit debates to be limited by the vote of 51 senators, or a majority of the 100 members, protested this course.

They argued that any change in rules recommended by the Rules Committee was likely to run into a Southern filibuster that could not be shut off except by a two-thirds majority.

Their fight for action now is based on the contention that at the outset of a new Congress a filibuster against a change in Senate rules can be halted by majority vote.

DiSalle Finds Clemency View Equally Split

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today he has received some vicious letters protesting clemency for Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, Cincinnati slayer.

The governor told newsmen the heavy mail was about equally divided for and against his action in commuting Mrs. Klumpp's death sentence to life imprisonment after a truth serum test. She was convicted of killing Mrs. Louise Bergen, estranged wife of her lover, William Bergen, in 1958 and burning her body.

DiSalle said letters favoring clemency seemed calm and rational but he termed many of those from opponents as vicious and nasty.

"They just hate everybody,' he said. "I have received some of the most vicious (letters) since I became governor. The people against it are vicious, nasty. They say that all the murderers come to Ohio. Some suggest that Mrs. Klumpp never return to Cincinnati."

DiSalle released a letter to the Warren County Bar Association which voted 10-5 to censure the governor for his use of sodium amytal truth serum in reaching his clemency decision.

The association also criticized DiSalle for what it termed statements relative to the guilt of Bergen.

DiSalle defended his action in a reply to the association.

"The fact as related to me were not before a jury and have never been," he wrote, "there has been no attempt to determine what Mr. Bergen did or where he was the night that the body was disposed of (in Clinton County)".

Ohio Collegians Report on Cuba

Antioch Students Say Natives Like Yankees

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP))—A group of 17 Antioch College students, some sporting "Castro beards, are back from a tour of Cuba with a "we love Americans message from the Cuban people.

The trip, sponsored by the Cuban government, took the students to three of the six Cuban provinces. During the 14-day tour, which cost $50 to $60 per student the group visited sugar mills, cooperatives, housing projects, schools, factories, and the Confederation of Cuban Trade Unions headquarters. The students also found time for the casinos, spent New Years Eve at a dinner given by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro for a reported 10,000 guests, and viewed the Cuban Independence Day parade Jan. 2.

One of the group, Stan Boyd, a junior from California, was on his own in Cuba for five days before joining the Antioch group for the finish of the trip. He said:

"I feel I owe it to the Cuban people to convey this wish:

" 'Go back and tell the American people we want to be friends with the American people. We love American people. We hope they will be our friends. We are not against American people. When we say, "Yankee no, we are just against the American government.

David Griffith a history major from Columbus, made what he called a minority report on the trip, saying his experiences prompted this thought:

"I heard Castro on a loudspeaker in downtown Havana which was nearly deserted. It was an incredible sound. The only comparison I could make was with Hitler. Can a misdirected man . . . produce a good revolution and do a lot for the people?

McNamara To Put Fortune into Trust

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert S. McNamara, while serving as secretary of defense, plans to put the money received from sale of his Ford Motor Co. stock into a trust fund.

McNamara, Ford president before he agreed to serve in President-elect John F. Kennedy's cabinet, received more than $1.5 million for sale of 24,705 shares of Ford stock.

Senators said that under the proposed trust the money could be invested but McNamara would not know what it was invested in. He would have no control over the money until he steps out of government service.

Kennedy Selects Diplomatic Chiefs

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today completed the State Department high command with the appointment of a close political associate of Adlai E. Stevenson as undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

Kennedy, back at the seaside home of his parents after a week of conferences in New York, Boston and Washington, gave the foreign policy job to George W. Ball, 51, a Democrat who has a background of service in government and now is a Washington attorney Ball long has been a chief political adviser to Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, recently picked by Kennedy to be ambassador to the United Nations.

Selection of Ball was announced by the president-elect as he turned to concentrated work on his Jan. 20 inaugural address. The $20,000 a year job as undersecretary for economic affairs, Ball will be the No. 3 man in the State Department.

Shortly before flying to Palm Beach from Washington Tuesday night, Kennedy also completed the top echelon of the Treasury Department. He named Henry H. Fowler also a Washington lawyer who has served in a number of government positions, as undersecretary of the treasury.

Fowler was picked by Kennedy after consultation with secretary of the treasury-designate Douglas Dillon, now undersecretary of state in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. Robert V. Roosa, New York banker, has been named Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs.

Kennedy also announced the appointment of Angier Biddle Duke as chief of protocol in the new administration. Duke, 45, formerly was a Foreign Service officer in Argentina and Spain, and now is president of the Council on Inter-America Affairs, a private organization, and a member of the New York City Executive Committee for the United Nations.

Kennedy arrived in Washington from New York in mid-afternoon Tuesday and for six hours engaged in a series of business conferences.

Haiti Orders Deportation Of Churchmen

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The expulsion of Haiti's leading Roman Catholic bishop, orders for the deportation of four other priests and closing of the church paper threaten a new crisis in President Francois Duvalier's relations with the Vatican.

The bishop was the second Catholic prelate deported in less than two months. Duvalier's government charged both were interfering in its efforts to root out Communist and pro-Castro students from the University of Haiti. But back of both cases was Duvalier's suspicion that the churchmen were friendly to his political foes.

Bishop Remy Augustin, 50, apostolic administrator, was put on a plane for Puerto Rico by police Tuesday night 14 hours after he had been taken from his bed and arrested. He was not allowed to take along even his false teeth

In San Juan, Bishop Augustin "I don't know why I was arrested and deported."

The Haiti-born bishop had been running church affairs in this predominately Catholic Negro country since November, when Archbishop Francois Poirier, 56 was deported to his native France on charges he had given a $7,000 check to aid striking university students.

The archbishop denied the charges and the Vatican protested the "grave episode."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A Houston window washer who may have hauled his loot out in a water bucket is a suspect in 14 robberies in a downtown office building.

The robberies in the Cotton Exchange Building were discovered Tuesday when another window washer, Glen Robert Harris, 26, told his employer the man carried out money and loot.

People in the offices checked after notified by police and found about $2,000 in money, bonds and jewels missing.

U.S. Guerrilla Aid Confirmed

Guatemala Says Yank Military Gives Training

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala has confirmed U.S. military officers are acting as advisers to army troops undergoing intensive guerrilla training at a hitherto secret base at Retalhuleu.

Defense Minister Enrique Peralta Azurdia denied the troops are being trained for any aggressive action against Cubas Fidel Castro regime. He termed the training "routine activities by the Guatemalan army.

"It should be remembered, the minister said, "that American military and air missions are in Guatemala and normally give valuable advice to our army.

Peralta Azurdia, whose government has broken relations with Cuba and charged Castro with complicity in an unsuccessful revolt here last November, was commenting on a New York Times dispatch from Retalhuleu. Times correspondent Paul P. Kennedy said the United States is supplying Guatemala with training personnel, supplies and other assistance in preparing a commando-type force for a possible clash with Castros troops.

Kennedy said Guatemalan officials claimed an invasion of Guatemala from Cuba was imminent.

The Miami Herald reported that recruiters, some of the American, for months have been selecting men from anti-Castro forces in Miami for secret flights to Retalhuleu.

A month ago, the Herald said, the force collected in Guatemala numbered more than 4,000 guerrillas and more than 100 pilots. Many came from Latin American countries the Herald said.

The U.S. State Department declined comment on the reports of U.S. participation in the training in Guatemala.

The Retalhuleu base is on the Pacific coast of Guatemala, about 700 miles from Cuba.

International Control Panel Revival Urged

Laos Chieftains Warn Soviets To Cease Airlift to Rebels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union reportedly has rebuffed a U.S. suggestion that an international control commission for Laos be revived.

The Soviet rejection was said to have been given Tuesday to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

Menshikov held a 40-minute discussion on Laos with Herter at the State Department. The talk was at Menshikovs request.

Britain has led the move for reviving the commission, composed of India, Poland and Canada. The United States is agreeable provided the commission is acceptable to King Savang Vatthana and the royal Lao government of pro-Western Prince Boun Oum.

The Soviet Union claims the ousted government of Prince Souvna Phouma, a neutralist who has fled Laos in the civil war raging in the Southeast Asia kingdom, is the legal government.

State Department press officer Lincoln White declined to say "yes or "no when asked if the discussion had been encouraging. He said Menshikov "came in to discuss the situation in Laos as he sees it from his standpoint.

Laotians have threatened to take "appropriate steps unless the Soviet government stops its airlift to pro-Communist rebels.

The warning to the Soviet Union, sent to the Soviet ambassador in London Monday, was made public shortly after the United States delivered the royal Laotian army its first armed planes.

Four propeller-driven observation planes, each armed with machine guns, were flown in Tuesday. Two other planes and a number of helicopters are also being turned over to Laos by the United States. The aircraft will be flown by Laotian pilots.

A Laotian spokesman said the planes were needed to check on the movements of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in the north central Plaine des Jarres.

A U.S. spokesman said the de-

Georgia College Accepts Negroes

ATHEN, Ga. (AP)—two teenage Negroes quietly sat down in classes with white students today after federal court rulings swept aside nearly two centuries of segregation at the University of Georgia.

Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, trudged along the oak and elm lined walkways to psychology and zoology classes respectively.

No crowds bothered them. There was just the usual flow of students making their way to the 9 a.m. classes in a score of buildings spread out over an area of more than two miles.

Some of the white boys and girls cast curious glances at the two Negroes. Others paid them no attention. Some spoke to them. It was just another day starting at one of the nation's higher educational centers.

While all was quiet in the university town, there were rumblings in Atlanta of further displeasure with integration on any level.

House Speaker George L. Smith and State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. expressed the opinion that the present appropriations act automatically cuts off funds to the university when integrated. But regardless of ther views, normal operations proceeded.

The U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday refused Georgia's plea to further delay integration at the school.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver said the appeal to the high court exhausted the state's legal remedies. Vandiver earlier was stopped from closing the doors of the university by U.S. Dist. Judge W.A. Bootle's temporary injunction against cutting off state funds to the school.

The governor protested to Bootle "the sweeping nature of these orders attempting to take over the state legislative and executive processes," but said, "my respect for lawful processes and my oath as governor of the state of Georgia preclude any act of defiance on my part."

Leaders of the Georgia Legislature, in session in Atlanta, although protesting Bootle's order as interference in state affairs, admitted it tied their hands at least until after a Thursday hearing on whether the injunction will be made permanent.

Capital Guard Goes Berserk, Shoots 4 Persons, Kills Self

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government building guard went berserk today, shot down four persons and killed himself.

Two of his four victims died instantly. The others were critically wounded.

The dead:

John Pledger, 40, a uniformed guard at the main Navy building Constitution Ave. and 18th St., who took his own life at the end of his shooting spree. Pledger was a civilian employe of the General Services Administration which has custodian duties for all government buildings.

Pledger's estranged wife, Zelma, 32.

Dr. Monroe G. Gregory, 50, of Annapolis, Md.

The wounded:

Augustus Valentine, 37, a co-worker of Mrs. Pledger in the Navy Bureau of Ships, reported in critical condition at George Washington University Hospital.

Theodore Wells, 38, an employe in the same office, reported in undetermined condition but conscious at the same hospital.

Police reported the shootings started shortly after 9 a.m. at a temporary building behind the main Navy building. Pledger, wearing his blue guard's uniform walked into his wife's office. Police said they are not certain of what conversation may have taken place but the 6-foot, 200-pound guard had two guns and started shooting.

An undetermined number of bullets were fired in Mrs. Pledger's office where she was fatally wounded and her two co-workers were wounded.

After this, police said, Pledger got into his own automobile and drove to Dr. Gregory's office several blocks away.

Inspector Joseph W. Shimon said Pledger walked through the reception room, passed two waiting patients and a cleaning woman, and entered the treatment room.

Inspector Shimon theorized there must have been a scuffle between Dr. Gregory and Pledger before the physician was shot and killed. Although his residence was in Annapolis, Dr. Gregory maintained an office, here.

Hoffa Linked To Testimony By Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa may get a chance today to answer testimony that he advised a mobster it is all right to rob the union—but don't get caught.

A secretly made recording was produced as evidence Tuesday by the Senate Investigations subcommittee which is holding hearings on alleged dealings between Hoffa and New York mobster Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo. Investigators identified the recording as a conversation Corallo had with two officials of New York teamsters Local 239.

Corallo is a former vice president of Local 239. The subcommittee contends he still runs it with the help of stooges.

The recording was made June 30, 1959, almost a year after Corallo ostensibly had resigned his union office.

Jerome S. Adlerman, the subcommittee counsel, said the group wants to quiz Hoffa about the purported conversation but wants to hear some other witnesses first.

The playback by subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Arl., apparently came as a shock to Mack Tane, business agent of Local 239, and Bernard Stein, secretary-treasurer of the local. Both refused to answer questions, pleading possible self-incrimination.

Seated at the witness table, they heard loud scratchy sounding voices alleged to be theirs, talking in a New York City apartment the district attorney's squad had "bugged."

County Needs Retarded Child Class; Who'll Take the Job?

By ROBERT K. HARROD
Editor, The Herald

A job needs to be done in Pickaway County.

So far no one has grasped the opportunity to start a class here for severely retarded children.

The children are here. It is estimated there are 15-20 youngsters who could qualify for a retarded children class.

The facilities are available. Two school rooms have been volunteered.

Money can be had for such work. The State pays part of the expense of each child enrolled in such classes.

The need is here. Many problems arise with the birth of a severely retarded child. Parents face a mental shock, the youngster needs special training in how to live in today's society.

A program of this type will save us money. It costs taxpayers about $1,400 a year to maintain a retarded child in Orient State School. Cost of training a child in a community retarded children class today costs taxpayers about $300.

Some problems exist, that's true. But 71 of Ohio's 88 counties have a program for retarded children, so they can't be insurmountable.

What is needed is some interested, public - spirited citizen or citizens to take on responsibility. A council for retarded children which would administer the program though the county Child Welfare department should be formed.

There must be some among the 35,000 persons in Pickaway County who feel a need exists and are willing to do something about it.

Who will take up this challenge?

case shall such charges be permitted to cause hardship among responsible relatives. It also would set a six-year limit on delinquent charges.

The House also received measures designed to:

Increase the state subsidy to local governments from $24 million to $28 million a year.

Reduce the control the Water Pollution Control Board holds over cities and villages.

Provide automatic promotions for state employes who have served 15 years and have been in their present salary bracket for three.

Exempt presciption medicines artifical limbs, supports and wheel chairs from the states 3 per cent sales tax.

Republican reaction to DiSalles mild state - of-the - state message likewise was mild.

House Speaker Robert Cloud, Logan County Republican, told newsmen: "I keep hearing phrases (in the message) which indicated to me that additional taxes would be required for any additional programs he would support.

DiSalle, interviewed later, wondered aloud to what phrases Cloud referred. Cloud did not specify them. But Cloud asserted:

"We didn't come down here with any intention of proposing tax increases.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, echoed Clouds sentiments. He commented:

"It looks to me like he (DiSalle) is as much as asking for some new taxes for some things he has in mind.

No Immediate Tax Cut Sought By Kennedy's Treasury Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas Dillon, selected to be secretary of the Treasury in the Kennedy administration, said today he has no intention now of recommending a temporary tax cut to give the economy a lift.

He also told the Senate Finance Committee at a hearing on his appointment that it would be entirely up to Congress to decide whether to delegate authority to the president to raise or lower taxes.

And, in reply to questions about the drain on U.S. gold as a result of the adverse international balance of payments, he said he believed the problem could be solved in a way that would not adversely affect the economy of the free world.

Dillon said, however, that he did not want to discuss in public sessions the steps that might be taken.

The hearing was the first by a Senate committee on any of the Cabinet appointments announced by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Orville L. Freeman, Kennedy's choice for secretary of agriculture, goes before the Senate Agriculture Commitee Friday.

These sessions are informal since Kennedy cannot submit appointments until he is sworn in Jan. 20.

But, following past precedent Democratic leaders hope to have all 10 Cabinet choices before the appropriate committees between now and the inauguration, and then have them confirmed almost as soon as their names are sent up formally.

livery of defensive weapons was authorized under the 1954 Geneva agreement giving Laos independence. But protests are certain from the Communist nations supporting the Pathet Lao rebels and the forces of rebel Capt. Kong Le.

The note said the Soviet airlift to aid the rebels had not stopped despite a protest delivered Dec. 31, and that Soviet planes were continuing a daily delivery at air strips and by parachute "of substantial amounts of war material and other kinds of unauthorized military assistance."

The government charged 10 days ago that about 300 soldiers from Communist North Viet Nam invaded Laos, and U.S. intelligence sources later reported Soviet aircraft had brought in a substantial outside Communist force. Tuesday the government charged that Soviet as well as North Vietnamese troops were invading the country. Few Western sources here, however, have believed the reports of invading forces were well-founded.

Terwilliger Case New Trial Motion Is Overruled

A motion was overruled in Common Pleas Court today by Judge Thomas Mitchell, Jackson County, to grant a new trial in the lawsuit Mame Metzger Groom vs. Catherine McKenzie and others.

The law suit involved the will of the late Meeker Terwilliger. The defendants contesting the Terwilliger will filed the motion for a new trial in mid-December.

A motion for a new trial was filed after a petit jury upheld the Terwilliger will with its decision on December 8. The will contest extended over a period of 13 days in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court with Judge Mitchell on the bench.

60-Day Period Not A Jail Sentence

The seven persons indicted by the January term of Pickaway County Grand Jury did not receive sentences of 60 days in jail at their arraignments as was stated in Monday's edition of The Herald. They received three years probation only.

The error was due to a mis-interpretation of records in the Clerk of Courts Office. The records read: Penalty — three years probation, costs, 60 days. The 60-day period was the time in which the persons have to pay the court costs and not a 60-day jail sentence.

Those persons indicted by the jury are as follows:

Stock Mart Prices Move Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly in active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .10 to 225.70 with the industrials off .10, rails unchanged, and utilities off .10.

Changes of most key stocks were small but there were a few moves of a point or so in either direction.

Steels drugs, oils, and aircrafts were mostly higher. Rails rested after their recent advances and were narrowly mixed. Farm implements and electrical equipments declined. Many groups were mixed.

Corporate bonds were irregularly lower. Governments were firm. Trading was quiet.

Wilmington Airport Eyed By Daytonians

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A committee from Dayton, headed by Mayor R. William Patterson, visited Clinton County Air Force Base Wednesday in connection with a proposal that it be considered as a southwest Ohio regional commercial airport.

Mayor Bates Harcum and his citizens committee at Wilmington, will accompany the Dayton group. Permission to tour the base was given by Col. C. J. Moore, commander.

The Air Force recently announced plans to withdraw its Strategic Air Command force from the base. Mayor Harcum then proposed that the airport be used to serve Cincinnati, Dayton and other cities through commercial airlines.

"The idea so far has been confined to local civilians," Mayor Harcum told a newsman today. "We have no assurance the Air Force would give the proposal any serious consideration. The committee, however, feels that it is worth exploring.

Kennedy Nemeses To Send Plaudits

TOKYO (AP) — Seventeen Japanese whose ship almost killed John F. Kennedy in 1943 gather here this weekend to draft a cable congratulating him on his inauguration Jan. 20 as U.S. president.

They are the survivors of the Amagiri, the Japanese destroyer that rammed and sank Kennedy's torpedo boat in the Solomons. Kennedy received a severe back injury but swam to safety.

The Amagiri's former skipper, Kohei Hanami, 51 and now a farmer, said Kennedy's election brought so much attention to the incident that the destroyer's survivors have formed a club.

Flow of Gold Continues To Plague Nation

New Federal Budget Sure To Reflect U.S. Dollar Evaluation

By SAM DAWSON
A PBusiness News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There seems sure to be a tint of gold in President Eisenhower's last State of the Union message Thursday and in his final budget next Monday.

The problems of the loss of gold and its running mate, confidence in the U.S. dollar, haven't gone away just because prices for the metal on the London free market simmered down after October's spectacular flurry.

The gold outflow continues despite U.S. Treasury steps to stabilize its world price and calm fears about the dollar's status.

The basic causes for the outflow in gold will show up in the new budget — in the overseas spending asked for defense and aid of other nations, in any policy announced toward U.S. private investment abroad, and in the probable chances of getting a balance in federal outgo and income which would further bolster confidence in the dollar.

Other causes, outside our direct control, will remain in maneuverings abroad. These include the desire of private hoarders to buy the metal as a hedge against the still rumored and vigorously denied devaluation of the U.S. dollar, and even the game the Soviet Union may be playing with its own big supply of gold overhanging the market.

The Soviets can keep the supply of gold on the free market smaller by withholding sales of their gold. They usually sell gold to meet their own trading deficits with Western nations. When they don't sell gold they help to keep the gold supply thin, and this means the price can be bid up easily when private hoarders around the world want it enough.

Or the Soviet Union could dump gold on the market and disrupt it for the time being by undercutting prices — although this would help the U.S. Treasury by drying up demand for its metal held at the official price of $35 an ounce.

Reports from European financial markets indicate the Soviets haven't been doing anything about gold for three months. And one of the things the international fiancial markets is watching, and probably the U.S. Treasury also, is what the Soviet Union is doing or seems likely to do.

The three-year deficit and the accompanying loss of gold has given rise in some foreign quarters to beliefs that the United States eventually may have to devalue the dollar—that is, make it worth less in gold by hiking the price of gold. Those believing this have bought gold for their private hoards.

Both the old and the incoming U.S. administrations say devaluation isn't even being considered. But both agree that something must be done to cut the annual dollar-payment deficits.

One way is to increase our exports—but these now are running ahead of imports by around $5 billion a year. Another is to cut spending abroad for foreign aid and on military and diplomatic spending. We have another task force in West Germany asking it to help shoulder some of this load.

The upcoming presidential message may give clues as to how we are faring and what more we hope to do in balancing our payments with the rest of the world.

New Chief's Plans, Problems

History May Tie 'Welfare' Tag on Kennedy, Congress

Editor's Note — Help for depressed areas, higher teacher pay, more medical care for the aged—these were high in the list of John F. Kennedy's campaign pledges. What will the president-elect do about them after moving int othe White House? From a veteran Associated Press political writer, here's an estimate of the broad outlines of the Kennedy legislative program. It's the third of five articles on Kennedy plans and problems.

By JACK BELL
AP Political Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — History may tie the tag of "the welfare Congress" on the 87th meeting of the nation's lawmakers if President-elect John F. Kennedy gets his way.

In advance of its actual submission after his inauguration, Kennedy's legislative program is taking shape as one aimed at bettering the economic and social status of millions of Americans.

While he hasn't laid down any specific priorities, Kennedy has said he wants speedy action on measures to provide medical care for the aged, aid for education, housing, minimum wage and aid for chronically depressed areas.

The president-elect has talked of easing interest rates, revising the labor laws, spurring economic development, and expanding national resources projects.

In the controversial field of civil rights he is tied to a platform declaration for congressional passage of a measure to clothe the attorney general-to-be, his brother Robert, with authority to bring federal injunction suits to enforce school desegregation.

This and some other proposals face tough and possibly successful opposition in a Congress the Democrats nominally control but where a coalition of conservatives of both parties has a great deal to say about the final form of legislation.

Outside of Congress, Kennedy has promised executive action to improve the condition of certain segments of the population.

He said repeatedly in the presidential campaign there was much a president could do by the stroke of a pen, such as ending segregation in federal housing programs, furnishing moral leadership and calling a conference of Southern moderates to recommend measures for civil rights progress.

The Kennedy program for aid to education has not taken final form. He supported a bill passed by the Senate in the 86th Congress for a two-year $1.86-billion program for school construction and grants for teachers' salaries.

The House passed a four-year program authorizing $1.3 billion for construction only. The two houses couldn't agree and the bill died. Whether Kennedy is any more successful as president than as a senator in promoting a teachers' pay measure remains to be seen.

The new president will have a fight on his hands in proposing a medical care program for the aged, financed through Social Security taxes. Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., already has served notice he will oppose a tax-financed proposal as a substitute for the state-federal program passed by the last Congress.

Republicans are lining up their forces to battle an expected Kennedy recommendation for an increase in the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour, with an expansion of coverage to another five million persons, mostly in the retail trades.

Republicans can be expected to contend that a minimum wage boost now may only increase unemployment. They are not alone in their opposition. For example, Sen. Fulbright, D-Ark., takes a similar position.

Kennedy's bill to help depressed areas may carry around $400 million in federal grants and loans to encourage new industries in areas of chronic unemployment. It probably will call for retraining of miners, railroad workers and others who have lost their jobs permanently.

Kennedy is expected to back a housing bill geared to spurring this lagging industry with lower interest rates and easier terms for credit purchases. In the past he has supported urban renewal programs.

There is some doubt on the course the new president may take in the complex field of labor law reforms.

The platform on which he was elected pledges the new president to seek repeal of the Taft-Hartly law provision which authorizes states to pass right-to-work laws. But it seems questionable to most observers that this will be a high priority—if any — in the rush to legislation providing broader welfare benefits.

These benefits could include a new department of urban affairs, to handle mounting problems of city dwellers, as well as some kind of central agency pointed at giving consumers a break.

These two projects still are in the speculative stage, however. Most associates think Kennedy will wait until he gets the feel of the presidency and plumbs the economic situation thoroughly before making any such proposals.

NEXT: Military Affairs.

Even a U.S. President-Elect Has Trouble Getting Tickets

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes even a president-elect of the United States has trouble getting tickets for a Broadway musical playing to standing-room only.

John F. Kennedy had such trouble Monday night. But when the curtain went up, there he was in an aisle seat in the fourth row.

Kennedy told his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, to try to line up two tickets. He wanted the second ticket for an old friend traveling with him, Grant Stockdale, a Miami, Fla., real estate man. When the Kennedy plane landed about an hour and a quarter before curtain time, Salinger hustled to a waiting automobile equipped with three mobile telephone circuits. He placed a call to the St. James box office. He explained he was Kennedy's press secretary and that the president-elect would like two tickets. The box office concluded he was a practical joker and told him: "So sorry. We're completely sold out".

Newsmen with Salinger started calling their offices asking that strings be pulled to get Kennedy two tickets.

Salinger made other calls, looking for strings to pull.

One of the mobile phones in Salinger's car rang. It was word that someone had reached someone high up at the St. James Theater and would the president-elect please forgive and forget and come to the musical. Seats? No problem whatever. The good word was passed to Kennedy as he and Stockdale got out of their car for a hasty dinner at Club 21.

At the theater a bit later, Kennedy and his guest were ushered to down-front seats and the president-elect got an ovation as he walked down the aisle.

So how did Kennedy get choice seats?

A theater official went to two young women who had fourth row aisle seats, told them the management's troubles and asked if they would mind giving up their seats to the president-elect in exchange for less desirable ones.

The young women turned out to be Kennedy fans and gladly swapped seats. The theater official told newsmen he neglected to get their names.

The price of the Kennedy tickets? Don't be silly, the management said. No charge.

Tools of Success Don't Change

An auspicious year needs more than the usual January 1 forecasts to start it on its way, it needs a bit of encouragement from the past, a sort of see-if-you-can-better-these-accomplishments challenge to exert the full potential of the nation's genius in combating both mankind's old adversaries and a sizable crop of new ones.

Every day of the year has recorded somewhere in its past countless deeds of human beings which may have become covered with additional layers of more recent accomplishments, but which have added irrevocably to civilization's progress.

January possesses an abundance of lessons in the greatness of men, perhaps more than any other month. Recalling a few of them gives comfort to the discouraged, spirit to the tired, and a sudden realization that there have been other times, many of them, when men longing for victory of the spirit have faced formidable obstacles and won.

Even in defeat, principles from which men refuse to budge are enshrined in the memory far beyond the acquaintance of contemporaries. Many men revered today were unsuccessful in achieving their ultimate goals, but aimed so highly that even in defeat they surpassed the level of excellence. Reaching for the impossible without acknowledging human inabilities to attain it is frequently the fate of men who achieve progress.

Assemble the traits of January's great men and a composite of the ideals, initiative and driving energy upon which this nation has prospered is formed.

Begin with the common sense of Benjamin Franklin, add the commanding voice of Daniel Webster, mix with the economic soundness of William McKinley, the honor and loyalty of Alexander Hamilton, the invincibility of Stonewall Jackson, and temper them with the patience and iron devotion to principle of Douglas MacArthur and Robert E. Lee, and the ageless image of the American dream is created.

These men faced the most terrible adversities in war, political aggression, poverty, threatened and real loss of liberty, personal insults and cruel injustices.

Who will not accept eagerly the challenges of 1961, anl demand more besides, armed with a brief backward glance at men who also looked ahead beyond the immediate demands of expediency to more fruitful realizations. The tools of success do not change through the years. Only the men who employ them.

Is It OK to Day Dream?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Does the world sometimes seem too big for you?

Well, it is.

Do you sometimes feel small, futile and lost—an overwhelmed human zero in an inhuman wilderness called civilization?

Well, you probably are.

But cheer up. Every normal person feels that way part of the time. But there is no need to feel like that all the time.

There is a way out. Become a day dreamer—at whatever time of day you need it most.

Some people sneer at day dreamers as impractical. They are usually unimaginative people who had only one dream in their lives. They put this dream into harness and beat it with a whip until it got them what they wanted out of living.

Then they discover that wasn't really all they wanted from life after all. So they lose their faith in dreams of any kind. In their own frustration they try to knock down everybody else's dreams. Such people are knotheads.

There are two types of day dreamers, and it is essential that you become the right one.

The boss walks by your desk and says, "Hello." If you automatically wonder, "What did he mean by that—is he going to fire me?" you are a fearful day dreamer. This is the wrong kind. You will dwell only in dreams of dread, and nothing is more pitiful.

But if the boss says "Hello" to you, and you immediately begin to figure what changes you'll make in company policy when he takes you in as partner, you are on the right track. You are a constructive day dreamer. Dreams give you security and hope, and that's what dreams are for.

Here is how the successful day dreamer operates in fantasy:

He sips a glass of cheap red wine in a cheap restaurant and at once becomes a Paris boulevardier dawdling over champagne.

He may be only a clerk, but if they put two telephones on his desk to answer, he assumes in his head the role of Wall Street tycoon.

He bets $2 on the long-shot in the first race at the track, and plans to parlay his winnings by betting them on every other long-shot of the day. Sometime, somewhere, every long-shot will come in first, and if this shoud be the right track and the right day he will go home a multimillionaire.

The great virtue of day dreaming is that you can be anybody, go anywhere, do anything—but escape any responsibility for your decisions or actions. You make of life a game—a pretense guiltless of hypocrisy.

There is only one danger. The day dreamer knows true happiness only if he doesn't try to translate his impossible dreams into deeds. That way lies disaster.

It is all right for a mouse to day dream that it is a dinosaur only so long as it doesn't try to attack a cat.

State Department Probe Needed

By George Sokolsky

In charge of our Cuban affairs in the State Department was until recently William A. Wieland who has been identified as the Arthur William Montenegro for whom I have been looking in the record. This was not announced by the State Department which has full responsibility in the matter, but the State Internal Security Subcommittee has been studying the question of Wieland's conduct and purposes.

There are three men who have the name Montenegro and this produces some confusion. Therefore, it is necessary to say that the Arthur William Montenegro who is being discussed is William Wieland and that he comes by both names quite properly; the Wieland name being his at birth, the Montenegro name coming later when his mother married a second husband by that name.

So we need not get too excited about the use of two names, but we are justified in wondering why this man was entrusted with our Cuban affairs and if the Senate Committee does the job thoroughly, we may find out how men are recruited into the State Department and how they are promoted. We may discover what are the qualifications for being a deskman who can by the flick of a ball - point pen get the United States into the mess which is now our Cuban situation.

The same thing happened with regard to Communist China in the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 when Alger Hiss and Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations were manufacturing American policy which lost us a continent and gained for us our most pernicious enemy. It might have been otherwise had the policy of our government not been influenced so positively by men whose interest was to support Soviet Russia rather than the United States, although they were American citizens. It took a long time for Americans to overcome the false propaganda let loose in this country that these Communists were only agrarian reformers.

Dean Rusk, who is to be Secretary of State in the Kennedy Administration, speaking on May 18, 1951, said:

"It is not my purpose, in these few moments this evening, to go into specific elements of our own national policy in the present situation. But we can tell our friends in China that the United States will not acquiesce in the degradation which is being forced upon them. We do not recognize the authorities in Peiping for what they pretend to be. The Peiping regime may be a colonial Russian government — a slavic Manchukuo on a larger scale. It is not the Government of China. It does not pass the first test. It is not Chinese.

"It is not entitled to speak for China in the community of nations. It is entitled only to the fruits of its own conduct — the fruits of aggression upon which it is now willfully, openly and senselessly embarked."

This is true but it took too many years to be said officially and when it was said the mischief had already been done. Similarly, in the Cuban situation, we have com eto realize that we have taken more than we can bear, but why did we need to take it at all? Was it because William Wieland was calling the turns? Was it because Roy Rubottom was diffident? Was it because the Fifth Floor of the State Department, where the great men sit, never knows what goes on in that sprawling building until it is too late to do anything but make ready for war or appeasement?

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee ought to examine this situation to discover not an individual whose judgment was bad or whose conduct was vicious, but a pattern of operations which makes it possible for imcompetent and indecent persons to become associated with the State Department and to rise to positions where they can commit the United States to a policy. The Cuban situation ought to be studied from the standpoint that it is an altogether unnecessary advantage for Soviet Russia which might have been averted had the control of American policy been where it should be under our Constitution, in the hands of the President of the United States, not of a deskman in the State Department?

This is a matter which affects the internal security of the United States and should be dealt with as such, no matter what Senatorial courtesy requires.

CASTRO 'RED'—"Castro told me before the revolution that he wanted to set up a system like Russia," Luis Diaz Lanz, former Cuban air force commander, tells with vehement gestures in Chicago. He said "Castro wouldn't be so foolish as to move against the Guantanamo naval base, because he fears the reaction of the people."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MOTORCYCLE COP stopped a car and pulled out his summons book. "I clocked you at 65, Mister," he said. The lady in the back seat cackled gleefully, "Just you give him a ticket, Officer. Serves him right. I've told him for years he's a reckless, terrible driver."

"Your wife?" inquired the cop. The driver nodded glumly. The cop snapped his summons book shut and murmured sympathetically, "Drive on, brother."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—For eight years a take-charge man with big eyeglasses and more than enough chin did an extraordinary job of making his boss, the President of the United States, look good.

Now James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary with a beaut of a temper and so much self-assurance he could hold a surplus sale, is leaving.

When he turned in his resignation, Eisenhower said he had been invaluable. And indeed he was.

Eisenhower admittedly didn't do much newspaper reading. Hagerty a 51-year-old grandfather and former newspaperman, was to a large extent the President's eyes and ears.

He was more than that. He not only was a buffer between the President and the press to a degree unmatched in this century, he was also Eisenhower's mouthpiece.

But he was no blabbermouth. He never got his devotion to news mixed up with his loyalty to Eisenhower. He never said anything to embarrass his boss. He didn't make slips.

Hagerty was a master of two things which a lot of press relations men never learn: He paid attention to details and informed himself on problems he had to handle.

Seem simple? It's amazing how many people in Washington don't do either.

In time Hagerty became Eisenhower's scout, a kind of private emissary, who went ahead of the President when he planned a trip abroad and arranged for his safety and convenience.

He became such a strong and established figure in the group around Eisenhower that he was almost certainly an advisor on policy.

Hagerty was unchallenged within the administration as emperor of his special domain from the time he took charge of the news about Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955.

His forthrightness in keeping the country informed at that critical time was widely admired. He seemed a lot less forthright when Eisenhower had his ileitis operation.

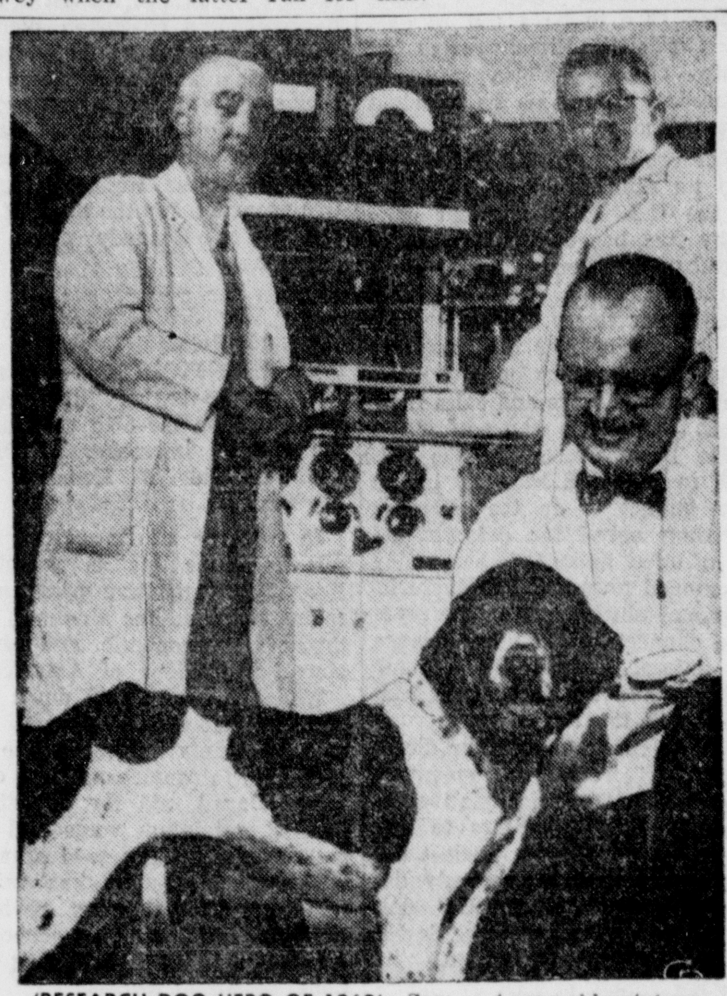
Hagerty's attention to detail goes away back beyond the time he went to work in the White House. He was press secretary to New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey when the latter ran for the presidency in 1944 and 1948.

He was a tough, efficient operator then. Dewey turned him over to Eisenhower when the general became a candidate. As it turned out, this was one of the best things Dewey did for Eisenhower.

Now Hagerty goes to the American Broadcasting Company as vice president to build up its news reporting. He succeeds John Daly.

Unlike Daly who did broadcasting himself, Hagerty will stay out of sight, try to build up a staff, and let the staff do the talking.

Not talking will be a switch for him.



'RESEARCH DOG HERO OF 1960'—Sam, a 4-year-old pointer, stands proudly at Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., on being named "Research Dog Hero of 1960" by the National Society for Medical Research. Sam is living with a transplanted heart valve. He was operated by the Stanford surgical research team of (from left) Dr. Norman Shumway, Dr. Richard Lower and (kneeling) Dr. Raymond Stofer. They are trying to find a way to replace diseased mitral valves in humans. Such cases usually are victims of rheumatic fever.

Ohio Senate OKs Inaugural Delegate Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate has authorized a legislative committee of seven senators and seven representatives to attend the Jan. 20 inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy—at state expense.

The House has yet to act on the authorizing resolution.

Senate adoption of the resolution came over the objections of six senators led by veteran Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen. He called it "not a proper use of taxpayers money.

There was no estimate of the cost to the state of attendance by the legislative delegation, but Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, told the Senate the authorization covered only transportation, hotel bills and meals. For incidental expenses, he asserted, the chosen legislators will be on their own.

Pepple told the Senate he had been designed "four or eight years ago as a member of the Ohio legislatures official party to attend an inauguration of President Eisenhower.

"I was naive enough, he said, "to believe I was going at my own expense. When I found out the state was going to pay the bills I didn't go

King later read from the record of the 1957 legislature indicating that the Senate adopted a similar resolution for the second Eisenhower inaugural unanimously—including Pepples "aye vote.

Asked later whether he would attend the inaugural at his own expense, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle replied: "I always have; why change now?

James, incumbent Republican, by 29 votes in the county commissioner contest.

The Mississippi Valley Conference will be held on February 24, in Dayton, Ohio with the president of the conference being General Federation of Womens Clubs Legislation Chairman. All club members are urged to attend these important meetings.

The residents and Mrs. Ott, superintendent of the Pickaway County Home for the Aged, expressed thanks to the group for the Christmas party and gifts recently given them.

As a special Ohio Federation of Womens Clubs Junior project, the club will make a thorough evaluation of education in our area. More information as to the school selected for the study and the exact nature of the evaluation will be given at a later date.

Mrs. Pettit announced that initiation of new members will take place at the club's February meeting at the Home of Mrs. Harry Turner. An orientation meeting for these new members will be held later in that month.

After t e meeting adjourned with the singing of the Junior Pledge, Mrs. Robert Litter introduced the evening's guest speaker the Rev. William Huber, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Mr. Huber stated that a clinical psychologist is a person concerned with the re-education of those who have failed in adjusting to life situations, and that clinical psychology involves diagnosis, treatment and research.

There is a great deal of confusion about a psychologist. There is the mistaken idea that he can see through a person's mind. This is incorrect of course — a psychologist has been trained to look for cues. In an interview he gets a lead from a person's association of ideas, shifts in conversation (trying to avoid certain subjects for example,) inconsistencies and emotional involvement. A person also give the psychologist cues through his actions.

After the interview Projective Testing is used, Mr. Huber said for example ink blots. To illustrate, club members took part in a projective test. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening, by the co-hostesses Mr. A. D. Page, Mrs. Joseph Brooks and Mrs Allan Berger.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Take Mom's Advice!

DEAR ABBY: I am confused about one thing although I am 16 and have been dating quite a while. When your date comes to pick you up, aren't you supposed to be ready?

I always am and my mother says that is correct. My girlfriends say if you make your date wait a while (say about 15 or 20 minutes) it will show him you aren't overanxious and he will appreciate you more. I'd like your opinion.

ON TIME

DEAR ON TIME: Your mother is right. I once knew a young lady who made a habit of keeping her date waiting in the parlor because she wanted him to "appreciate her more." He learned to "appreciate" the company of her younger sister so much that he asked her out and eventually married her.

DEAR ABBY: My wife came home the other day with a purchase that provoked an argument. She bought several pairs of men's briefs with an elastic panel in front that looks something like a lady's panty girdle. When I protested she said, "Don't be silly, if it's all right for women to hold themselves in that way, why shouldn't men? Most men get pear-shaped after 40 anyway."

Whose side are you on? '

PAUNCHY

DEAR PAUNCHY: I'm on the side that holds 'em in in front.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is so embarrassing I can't talk to anyone about it, so I'm writing you. My husband is 47 and for the past year he has been hording the most objectionable pictures of half-dressed and naked women. He carries a billfold full of them and I've found several bunches hidden under the mattress and in his workshop. He promised he'd quit it, but he continues. Now I found he has been trying on my undergarments. I think there is something wrong with his mind. Should I call a doctor? Or will the condition cure itself in time? I am afraid to live with him.

MOTHER OF SIX

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband is sick. Ask your family physician and arrange for the treatment your husbnad needs. This condition is not uncommon and it doesn't "cure" itself.

DEAR ABBY: This might help the little lady who signed herself "TROUBLED CONSCIENCE": Six years ago I was troubled because I found out my husband was lying to cover up for his buddy. But this didn't bother me half as much as when I found out his buddy was lying to cover up for him.

Broader Social Security Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — A special task force proposed to President-elect John Kennedy Tuesday a broad expansion of Social Security, public assistance, unemployment compensation and medical education.

The report, drawn up at Kennedy's request, is designed to give the new administration some high-priority guidelines.

Among the proposals was a recommendation for the immediate passage by Congress of the controversial health insurance plan for the aged tied to Social Security.

Benefits would be started a year after enactment of the program.

The task force, headed by Prof. Wilbur J. Cohen of the University of Michigan, described the health insurance proposal as "the only sound and practical way of meeting the health needs of most older people."

At a news conference Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary-designate of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, emphasized that the program proposed in the report should properly be termed a health program for the aged, rather than a medical program. "It has nothing to do with doctor's bills, so that is a misnomer," Ribicoff said.

He said doctors' bills ordinarily account for only 25 per cent of health cost.

Cohen, at the same news conference, said the task force recommendations closely follow the terms of a bill introduced last year in the Senate by Kennedy and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., but he said that the task force recommended broadening the coverage to include in the proposed health care, men 65 and older and women 62 and older as well as widows, orphans and the disabled receiving Social Security benefits. The Anderson-Kennedy bill was confined to men and women 68 and over. Cohen said the additional coverage would bring the health plan to about 14½ million persons, an increase of five million over the coverage of the Kennedy-Anderson bill.

Shrine Unit Names Officers

W. E. Christopher has been elected president of the Pickaway County Shrine Club.

The Shriner election was conducted Tuesday night during a session at the local BPO Elks Lodge. Durward Dowden was named vice president.

Nelson Bell Jr., was named secretary and Lloyd Minor will serve as treasurer.

Two directors selected to serv three - year terms are Paul Armstrong and Past President Robert Wood.

Induction ceremonies for the new officers will be conducted next month. Ladies Night will be observed.

Business Briefs

Today Ray J. Price, district manager of the Columbus office of Dun & Bralstreet Inc., announced statement reguests have been mailed to 246 businesses in Circleville and an additional 108 requests to those in the rest of Pickaway County.

According to Price, each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns — to the corner grocery store worth a few thoulsand dolars as well as to businesses worth millions.

Appointment of the 1961 Pickaway County chairman for The Ohio Hardware Assn. was announced today.

Named was Hal D. Dickinson of Circleville Hardware Co. Installation of county officers will be during the O. H. A.'s 67th annual convention and 1961 Mid America Hardware Show, Feb. 5-8, in Cleveland.

Kroger cashiers here are vying for the title of the nation's best cashier, it was announced today by Harold P. Templeton, vice president of the Columbus Kroger Division.

Shoppers may vote for their favorite checker in any Kroger store from January 11 through January 28. The contest is sponsored each year by the Super Market Institute and the National Cash Register Company to focus attention on the importance of the role of the checker in modern store operation.

Medical Mirror
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

Blood Test for Heart Attacks

- Pinworms
- Simple Explanation
- Bloody Urine
- Cold Milk

Q. Will you please write about the blood test for heart attacks?

A. You are probably referring to the "transaminase test." Various body tissues contain substances (enzymes) which seep into the blood stream when tissue is injured. The heart muscle, for example, contains transaminase, which is released following certain types of "heart attacks." By testing the blood for transaminase, doctors are able to better diagnose, treat, and follow the patient's progress.

Q. In Medical Mirror you said that pinworms are transferred from person to person. How?

A. Pinworms leave the lower intestinal tract of an infected person and lay eggs on the skin around the anal opening. Other people pick up the eggs from the patient's clothing or objects handled by the patient, or by swallowing airborne eggs or in various other ways.

Q. Is it harmful for a person to "put off" going to the bathroom to urinate?

A. Probably not, for males. For females it might definitely be harmful. The reason is that the female urethra (tube leading from bladder) is short. Unless it is frequently flushed out by urination, time is allowed for bacteria to get up into the bladder and cause infection. This would be less likely to occur when the urge is respected.

Q. If bloody urine turns normal after a day or so should you see a doctor?

A. Yes. You should have a thorough examination if you ever have blood in the urine. Otherwise, you are risking what could be a symptom of a serious condition requiring prompt treatment.

Q. Does the chilling of milk affect the vitamin and protein content?

A. No.

Our primary function is to provide prescription and related health services of the highest quality.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P. O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N.Y. 10, N.Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Social Security Law Changes With New Year

Employers Pay More; Children To Receive Additional Benefits

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The new year has brought a series of changes in the Social Security laws under which:

1. Nearly two million employers will have to pay higher federal unemployment tax.

2. More than 400,000 children of deceased workers will get raises in their Social Security payments, and the higher payments will benefit children who lose a working parent in the future.

3. People receiving Social Security checks will be able to earn more than $1200 a year without losing as much Social Security as they did under the old rules.

Congress voted these and other changes in the program effective Jan. 1, 1961.

The extra earnings formula is complicated. In general it works like this: If you're under 72 and you earn more than $1,200 a year from work, you will have $1 of your Social Security payments withheld for each $2 you earn from $1,200 up to $1,500. For every $1 that you earn above $1,500, $1 in Social Security will be withheld.

For example, if your Social Security payments are $80 a month, or $960 a year, and you have earnings from work of $1,400 a year, the extra $200 in earnings will cause $100 to be withheld from your yearly Social Security payments of $960.

Heretofore, for each $80 or fraction of $80 you earned above $1,200 you lost a full Social Security check.

The raise in federal unemployment tax will not be large for employers with only a few workers, but for big companies it will be substantial.

Employers of four or more persons will have to pay to the federal government four-tenths of one per cent of the first $3,000 a year paid to their employes. Until now the tax has been three-tenths of one per cent.

The change benefiting children means this: Until the law was revised, a surviving child was eligible for one-half of the amount his deceased parent would have received had he lived to retirement age—with an additional one-quarter of the total amount divided among all the children.

Now, each child of a worker who has died will be eligible for three-quarters of the amount the worker would have received if he had lived and drawn retirement payments.

The limits on the total amount that may be paid to survivors remain unchanged: A total of $254 a month or 80 per cent of the average monthly earnings of the parent before death, whichever amount would be less.

Halaby Is Tipped For Aviation Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post said today Najeep (Jeeb) E. Halaby, 45, Los Angeles electronics executive, is President-elect John F. Kennedy's choice for administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

E.R. Quesada now heads the agency.

Halaby was a wartime Navy flier and later a test pilot for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. He served in both the State and Defense departments during the Truman administration.

Wilmington Sets Campaign To Keep Big Air Base Busy

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Bates Harcum Tuesday announced the formation of a four-man committee to explore all possibilities for full use of the Clinton County Air Force Base including the idea of using it for a southern Ohio regional airport.

The Air Force recently ordered withdrawal of the Strategic Air Command forces from the 1,700-acre base.

The idea of establishing a regional commercial airport has been under study by' officials of Cincinnati, Dayton, Middletown, Hamilton and Wilmington.

"We feel that the recent Air Force directive ordering the Strategic Air Command from the base this summer, is a matter of concern, not only to the immediate community but to the taxpayers of the United States," Harcum asserted.

"Some $28 millio nof taxpayers' money has been sunk into this military reservation and it appears that the Air Force is writing it off with no real plan to utilize its full facilities."

He said that available information indicates that SAC and its civilian complement total some 1,100 persons which would mean that the 1,700-acre base would have a manning force, without SAC, of 200-300 persons.

He also pointed out that the Air Force plan to bring in a 400-man Air National Guard unit from the Akron-Canton area, indicates only fractional utilization of the base's facilities.

The committee, called a "Mayor's Citizen Committee," includes Harcum, Forrest Tucker, Ronald Gordon and Tom Hunter.

"We realize that our chances of being heard by the Air Force are not very good and we are not questioning an action which involves security planning," Harcum explained. "But if the base's future is one of virtual abandonment we feel that no wis the time to explore other avenues of utilization."

He said the committee has contacted officials involved in a proposed plan for the establishment of a regional airport in southern Ohio and admitted that the subject of Clinton County AFB was discussed with "considerable interest." Members of the committee have been invited to the next discussion session on the airport subject.

"Perhaps a joint commercial - military airport would be a feasible solution" Harcum said. "The bae is strategically located, away from congested population areas yet near enough to important cities for helicopter or motor transportation service."

He added: "The brand new facilities, including a beefed - up and extended 9,000-foot runway, capable of handling jets, modern controls, fine office buildings and general physical independence of the base would make it a natural in the regional airport concept."

Harcum said the committee would send copies of an editorial from the Wilmington News-Journal to President Eisenhower, members of Congress and the Ohio Legislature and Air Force officials.

The editorial, protesting that the base is to be "virtually mothballed", proposed that it might be used for a regional commercial airport.

Tighter Rules Made on Pay To Hospitals

CLEVELAND (AP) — County Commissioner William P. Day announced Monday that a directive became effective Monday afternoon denying hospitals payment for virtually all indigent except those on relief rolls.

The announcement brought an accusation from Thomas D. Griffiths, executive director of the Cleveland Hospital Council, that Cuyahoga County officials were "tossing financial destruction to voluntary hospitals."

The county's move could mean that hospitals would be denied payment of $1,380,000 they spent for the care of indigent sick last year. The total billings for the care of indigent sick — on relief rolls or not—came to an estimated $3 million.

Commissioners took the position that 46 per cent of the patients represented by the billings were not on relief rolls at the time of hospitalization and, according to the county's newly adopted and retroactive standards for defining eligibility, were not eligible for poor relief payment of their hospital bills.

Day suggested that the hospitals go to the City of Cleveland for more money. He explained the bulk of the indigent problem was in the city and the county was only acting as agent for the city.

Those Famous 76 Trombones Due To Be Made into Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Those famous trombones are coming to the screen, all 76 of them with 110 cornets close at hand.

They'll be followed by rows and rows of the finest virtuosos and "Music Man" Robert Preston, too. The vastly popular musical is reaching the shooting stage at Warner Brothers, where plans are in the capable hands of Morton Da Costa.

He is the man who transformed the Meredith Willson saga of early-day Iowa into a stage hit, and he will be directing the picture, too. A plain-spoken man with a mop of rust-colored hair and a face full of freckles, he gave a report on the film project.

"It won't be one of those terribly long pictures," he said. "It will run around 2½ hours, which is enough. After all, most Broadway shows run only 2½ hours, including an intermission. You can't hold an audience's attention much longer.

"The film version will follow the same line of the play, though it will be opened up. There were a lot of things I couldn't do on the stage because of limitations of space and time. When Bob sings '76 Trombones,' we'll take it out of the school gymnasium and into the street. Likewise, the final chase can be done all over town."

This may come as a blow to Iowa pride, but the entire film will be shot in Burbank. (California is an Iowa colony, anyway.)

"I thought of shooting it back there, but it would be impossible to duplicate the 1912 flavor," said Da Costa.

"It happens that Warners has a very good Midwestern town set. With 90 days of shooting and many intricate numbers, I'd rather be close to the studio's facilities."

To nearly everyone's delight, Bob Preston will be repeating as Harold Hill. But he was not shooting for the film role.

"We had a lot of big stars who wanted to do it—Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster, etc.," the director said. "The studio was inclined to sign a bigger name than Bob. But I held out for him. This is a role that you had to feel in your stomach, that you'd have to play at least four weeks on the stage before you could really do it."

Home accidents are nearly 15 times as numerous as those occurring in industrial places, including mines and quarries.

Tigers Lose Tilt To Falcons in Last Few Seconds

A victory slipped from the grasp of the Circleville cage Tigers in the final seconds last night at Franklin Heights.

Heights won the game, 45-43, after beating down a determined CHS outfit which came from behind a 14 - point deficit in the third quarter to take a 41-40 lead which held until 53 seconds remained.

Circleville, trying to protect its one-point lead, stalled the ball for more than a minute, but the Falcons' Roger Carper suddenly found himself with the ball under his own basket and he layed it up to push Heights ahead, 42-41. He added a foul shot on the play and a few seconds later Wilson of Heights drove for another bucket. Sam Weller zipped in a jumper for CHS about six seconds before the final buzzer.

The Tigers suffered one of their coldest nights of the season from the field, hitting 19 of 63 attempts for 30 per cent. Their poorest quarter was the second when they hit only three of 18 shots for 18 per cent.

* * *

SPARKED by the tremendous shooting from far out by Jimmie Wellington, the Tigers suddenly found the range about midway in the third period after the Falcons had taken a 30-16 lead. Wellington dazzled the opposition by hitting five one-handers from long range and his marksmanship gave the CHS force a needed lift.

Circleville actually lost the game at the foul line. The locals outscored Heights from the field, 19-17, but had only five of 13 foul tosses. The hosts connected on 11 of 27 to make the difference.

The end of the first quarter saw the Tigers take a 9-6 lead after Bruce Barnes of CHS opened play with a jump shot. The disastrous second canto was a crippler as FH turned on the steam to take a 24-16 advantage at halftime.

Third period play opened as if Heights would turn the test into a route on the strength of a 14-point lead. The Tigers quickly installed a pressing defense on order of Coach Dick Snouffer and the tide began to change, along with Wellington's sharpshooting.

Weller also was instrumental as he hit three straight buckets as fast as his mates could get the ball into him. The Falcons still held a 34-30 lead as the third episode ended, but much action was yet to come.

As the final period ticked away, Wellington hit a long one and Weller connected from down under to narrow the count to 40-39. Luther Johnson then shot the locals out in front on a jump shot with 2:30 remaining. The effort died about a minute later when Carper hit for the Falcons from underneath.

* * *

WELLER was a vital cog throughout, chalking up 22 points on 10 of 20 tries from the field and two of five foul tosses. Wellington gave the Tigers spark when badly needed with his five one-handers for 10 points.

Carper earned scoring honors for Heights with 24 points, most of them coming on a jumper from around the key and from underneath. Bill Hankison was his chief assistant with 11.

The CHS reserve squad suffered a 48-26 defeat. The Kittens played without the services of Freddie Moore who was sidelined with sickness.

The locals suffered in the third quarter when they managed only three points, compared to 19 for the winners.

Dave Hannahs paced the Kittens with six points and George Trego had five. Roberts was high for Franklin Heights with 13.

Circleville resumes action Friday with a trip to Greenfield for another SCO contest. The next home game is the following Friday when Franklin Heights comes here for a return match.

West Given Thin Edge In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West team is a one-point choice over the East for Sunday's pro bowl. It's the shortest spread for the West in years.

Ordinarily, the team representing the Western Conference of the Nationa Football League creates a three to seven-point edge over the Eastern Conference representative.

The West has responded by winning 6 of the first 10 pro bowl games.

The game this year features two fine quarterbacks — Johnny Unitas of Baltimore for the West and Norm Van Brocklin of Philadelphia for the East.

Baltimore's running attack collapsed late last season and with Alan Ameche out, defensive units against the Colts were able to contain Lenny Moore on sweeps and gang up on Unitas and his receivers when he took to the air. Unitas will have adequate ground power Sunday—and a top-notch fullback in Jim Taylor of Green Bay.

Van Brocklin passed Philadelphia to the NFL title and the Eagles won nine games in a row after losing the season opener.

Hoover's Down Leading Circle D

Hoover's Music defeated league leading Circle D three points to one in Monday Nite Late bowling this week at Circle D Lanes.

This did not drop Circle D's first place standing as second place Andy's Restaurant lost four points to McFarland's.

Top Hat Restaurant tied Andy's Restaurant for second by defeating Jerry's Bar for four points. Clifton Motors took four points from Coca Cola.

Dick Alkire rolled high individual game with 223 pins. High individual three games score was turned in by Jerry Bender with a 566.

Other 200 plus games were a 202 and 200 by Glyn Hoover for a 541 series. Glenn McFarland rolled a 520 series and M. Rhoades a 518. Top Hat was high team with a 954 single and a 2,779 series.

4 More Redlegs Sign

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today reported signing four more men for 1961—pitchers Marshall Bridges, Marv Fodor and Harvey Alex and second baseman Tommy Harper.

Bridges, a southpaw acquired from St. Louis during last season, won four games without a loss for the Reds, all in relief, and had a 1.08 earned run average.

June Adams Leads Scioto Pin Team

Roundtown Monday Night Women's bowling saw June Adams of Scioto Building & Loan roll 181 for a single game and finish 486 for the series.

Jane Badertscher of Van's Sandwich Shop came through with a 439 series.

Owner Van Camp Driving Circleville's State Champion

Steamin' Demon Is Hailed As Ohio's Horse of Year

Steamin' Demon, George Van Camp's proven performer at both trotting and pacing, Tuesday night was named Ohio's "Harness Horse of the Year." Results of the state wide balloting was announced during the annual dinner-meeting of the U. S. Trotting Association's District One (Ohio) at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel here.

Van Camp's now trotting Steamin' Demon was awarded 156 points to defeat Senator Frost with 128 and Right Time with 120. Senator Frost, also a trotter, was the winner of the 1959 award.

Steamin', the pride of Pickaway County, amassed his points by getting 24 first place votes, 10 for second and 10 for third.

The Senator, owned by Wayne Galvin of Wilmington, tallied 11 first place votes, 21 for second, and 10 for third.

* * *

The proud victory of Steamin' Demon climaxed a steady climb in the vote for the son of Demon Hanover since his colt years. He was fourth in the 1956 ballot, third in both the 1957 and 1958 and was runnerup to Senator Frost in 1959.

The local world champion—he has both trotted and paced under two minutes during his career—earned $64,950 in 1960 off a record of 16 starts, four wins, three seconds and one third.

Steamin', a dandy bay, was involved in one of the sport's oddities of 1960 when he and Silver Song raced to two dead heats to win in consecutive starts. The first came at Yonkers Raceway June 10, the second at Blue Bonnets Raceway in Canada nine days later.

Joe Marsh Jr. of Findlay was honored as the state's leading dash—winning driver of the year. The 26-year-old Marsh, a consistent winner at Detroit area tracks won 105 of 514 starts during 1960.

Heading the list of attending officials was Walter J. Michael of Bucyrus, president of the USTA and a director of District One. Michael gave a brief memorial to Joseph A. Neville of Delaware who died unxpectedly in February. Neville played a major role in making Delaware a stop on the Grand Circuit and in building The Little Brown Jug pacing classic into one of harness racing's major events.

STATE Auditor James A. Rhodes was the principal speaker and Director William B. Murray of Wellington master of ceremonies. In addition to Michael and Murray, other directors of the Ohio district are Corwin Nixon of Lebanon; McKinley Kirk of Washington C.H. and Bryon D. Kuth of Cleveland. Michael and Kirk were re-elected directors without opposition.

Past winners, Ohio Harness Horse of the year, are: 1959 — Senator Frost, trotter, Ray V. Foster and Wayne Galvin, Lima; 1958 — Merrie Annabelle, trotter, Byron D. Kuth, Chesterland; 1957—Widower Creed, pacer, Tom Loss, Swanton, 1956 — Flaming Arrow, pacer, William G. Vallery, Waverly; 1955 — Times Square, pacer, Edward Kirk, Washington, C. H.; 1954 — Lady Dunn, trotter, Carl H. Scholl, Cincinnati; 1953 —Keystoner, pacer, George H. Tipling, Cleveland.

Cincinnati tried six first basemen during the 1960 campaign.

Three Games in ONG Loop

Victories in National Guard basketball here last night went to VFW, McFarland Contractors and Scioto Elks.

* * *

VFW edged past Walnut T , 74-72, McFarland's opened up with full steam to down Orient, 84-61, and Scioto Elks held off Hunsicker's for a 68-66 verdict.

Eddie Tomlinson's 18 points was a chief factor in the VFW win, along with 17 by Dick Hoover, 16 by Jack Young and 15 by Max Spangler. Norm McPherson netted 19 for Walnut, Boyd Barr had 16 and Ray Reincheld and Bill Archer 14 each.

McFarland's turned in a peak performance behind 30 points by Cecil Galloway, 16 by Tom Blackburn, 14 by Ted Salyers and 13 by Phil Beard. Mike Brown paced Orient with 15. Delbert Neff added 12 and Dickie Melvin 11.

* * *

JAKE Bailey was the ace for Scioto Elks on 18 points. Ralph Jones hit 15, Bill Johnson 14, Larry Grant 11 and Sandy Hill 10. For Hunsicker's John Wardell had 20, Bob Metzger 16, Marvin Rhoades 12 and Nick Stonerock 10.

League games tonight are Blue Ribbon Dairy vs Scioto Elks, Hunsicker's vs Williamsport and Dick's Hardware vs Orient. Thursday games list Blue Ribbon vs VFW, Dick's Hardware vs Walnut Twp. and McFarland's vs Williamsport.

Jockey John Sellers won three Chicago stakes races in 1960, all with T. V. Lark.

Bosox Eye Bonus Boy

$100,000 Rookie To Replace Ted?

NEW YORK (AP)—A 20-year-old bonus boy, only three years out of high school, may be patrolling the might Ted Williams' left field sector for the Boston Red Sox this season.

The youngster, now attending Notre Dame, is Carl Yastrzemski — pronounces yas-stremskee — Who has what Philadelphia Phillies' Manager Gene Mauch calls "as sweet a swing as there is in baseball."

The 5-11, 175-pound outfielder, along with another youngster with only two years of experience, infielder Charley Schilling, 22, are the brightest prospects to come up to the Red Sox in years. They not only are given a good chance to stick, but each is expected to blossom into a star of long standing.

The Red Sox shelled out a $100,000 bonus to Yastrzemski two years ago when he was a sophomore at Notre Dame. As rookie with Raleigh in the Carolina League in 1959, he won the batting title with .377 and was voted the league's most valuable player.

Last year at Minneapolis, Yastrzemski led the American Association in hits and finished second in the batting race at .339, losing out for the title in the final week.

Schilling, according to Red Sox scout Bobby Doerr, is almost a cinch to make it at second base, which would leave the club with the problem of what to do with batting champ Pete Runnels. Last year at Minneapolis Schilling batted .310 and was the best fielding second baseman in the league.

In his only other season in pro ball, Schilling batted .340 at Alpine (Tex.) in the class D sophomore League.

Hugh Bell led Yonkers Raceway harness drivers by a wide margin in 1960. He rode 75 winners, 30 more than Jimmy Cruise who was second best.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The NBC news department, in a reverent mood, Tuesday night presented an hour-long program paying tribute to retiring president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Everyone, from Ike's grade schoolteacher to President-elect John F. Kennedy, had glowing things to say about the soldier-statesman. It was friendly and affectionate, but the heroic—almost awe-struck—tenor of the careful prose accompanying the old newsreel clips seemed general and complimentary. Somewhere a much loved and respected human being named Eisenhower was lost.

In just one hour it was impossible to dwell on many of the high spots of his career, but NBC could have covered more ground by eliminating half of the "hero's return" shots—the cars-and-confetti ones.

It was a nice gesture, but it was not a very stimulating or even well-organized TV show.

NBC is hunting around for some big name to debate the question of the West modifying its policy toward the Soviet Union on its Jan. 21 "The Nation's Future" show. Former New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey was scheduled to lock horns with British Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell, but cancelled out Tuesday.

James Garner's first outside film job since the actor and his Warner Brothers bosses started legal feuding almost a year ago will be an episode of CBS' "Angel" series.

NBC's "Riverboat" is scuttled with next Monday's episode—a rebroadcast of an October show. The following week "The Americans," a Civil War adventure series, bows into the time spot.

Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Show, NBC, 9-10 EST—the comedian's annual Christmas show for GIs taped at bases in the Caribbean, including Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11—"The Mating Machine' a comedy starring Diana Lynn and George Grizzard.

Springfield Raid Sirens Silenced

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — What happens if there's an air raid?

That's the question people around here were asking themselves after city officials Monday decided to discontinue use of the city's five air raid warning sirens this year.

The sirens have been sounding off each Monday at noon. But city commissioners said the $270 annual maintenance cost of the sirens made them not worthwhile.

Tougher Athletic Code Is Studied

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A tougher athletic code than that broken by North Carolina, Arizona and Loyola of New Orleans was before the National Collegiate Athletic Association today.

New legislation would provide for a national letter of intent, a general five-year eligibility rule, a stiffer transfer rule and limitations on the use of foreign athletes.

The bigger schools made the news Tuesday, but the NCAA's small colleges were expected to dominate today's formal session and kill most of impending rule changes.

There was little sympathy expressed by the small ones when North Carolina, Arizona and Loyola each were placed on probation for one year by the NCAA Council.

Preliminary round table discussion on the key legislation indicated the smaller schools, which dominate the sprawling organization, feel it is up to the institutions and their conferences to legislate the question of athletic eligibiliy.

North Carolina and Loyola, as part of their probation, were barred from postseason championships and other basketball tournaments cooperating with the NCAA. Arizona, whose guilt came from football violations, received probation only with no additional sanctions.

Arizona's probation stemmed from regular monthly cash payments to football players, conducting an in-season tryout for a football player and transporting a prospective player to the campus for a summer job prior to enrollment at the university.

North Carolina came under fire for excessive expenses in basketball recruiting and for paying the expenses of varsity players' parents to the annual December Dixie Classic.

The NCAA said Loyola awarded a basketball scholarship in an unapproved manner, then revoked the scholarship when the boy couldn't make the team.

Today's business session was expected to be a long one. Delegates were hoping it would end before the annual dinner of the American Football Coachs Association.

The AFCA will announce its major and small college coaches of the year. There were eight nominations in each category.

Lakers Climb Out Of League Cellar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers are beginning to show signs of snapping out of their losing ways. They have climbed out of the Western Division cellar in the National Basketball Association and if they can collar Cincinnati in their next two games they will be virtually tied with the Royals.

The Lakers outlasted the New York Knickerbockers Tuesday night in Los Angeles, 117-104.

In a doubleheader at St. Louis, the Boston Celtics dropped the Detroit Pistons, 118-98, and the St. Louis Hawks stopped Cincinnati, 119-110.

Booster, Faculty Teams Set For Cage War at Logan Elm

The Logan Elm High School Booster Club will sponsor an evening of basketball Saturday night at the school's new gymnasium with three games on the card.

The Logan Elm faculty and members of the Booster Club will get into the act. Also slated are two teams from a newly organized 5th and 6th grade cage program at the school.

One team will be composed of men of the faculty. Booster Club men will furnish the opposition.

Another engagement which probably will provide thrills by the dozens will a contest between women faculty members and ladies of the Booster Club.

* * *

FIRST contest of the evening will be the game between the two 5th and 6th grade teams, starting at 7 p. m.

The women's battle will follow the preliminary. Following this test the faculty men will take on the Booster men.

The Booster teams, seeking help, are calling for volunteers. Plenty of replacements are requested in case the Boosters run out of steam early.

Reports flowing from Logan Elm School indicate the faculty teams are ready and waiting for their adversaries. However, confidential sources say the Boosters have a trick or two up their sleeves.

The public is invited to witness the thrilling contests. All proceeds will go to the Booster Club to aid various projects at the new consolidated school.

The Logan Elm Boosters are directed this year by President Carl Smith, Route 1, Kingston.

Another Booster project scheduled for February 11 will be a basketball program calling for three 5th and 6th grade games. The third game this date will have a Logan Elm All-Star team meeting n outstanding 6th grade team from Fredericktown.

Undefeated DePaul Adds OU To Its List of Cage Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DePaul is one of a group of undefeated major basketball schools that you can count on the fingers of one hand. So far, though, the Demons have been unable to convince the experts they belong in the nation's Top Ten.

If the polling were in the hands of Ohio observers, things might be different. Ohio University's Bobcats joined the ranks of believers Tuesday night when the invading Chicagoans beat them, 69-60. That made it five Ohio teams among DePaul's 10 victims this season.

The Demons previously mastered Dayton, Miami, Bowling Green and Baldwin-Wallace.

The only other teams able to beat Ohio U.'s Mid-American conference co-leaders in their 11 games to date were No. 1 rated Ohio State and No. 5 St. John's. Should DePaul topple No. 4 rated Louisville in their clash Saturday night, the Bobcats undoubtedly will be able to point to all three of their conquerors in the Top Ten come next week's Associated Press rankings.

Five-foot-nine Howie Carl, the "big" man at the school were 6-9 again led the Blue Demons Tuesday night. The two-hand set shot artist swished 26 points against O.S. He got 13 of his team's first 15 in the second half, keeping DePaul in the running while Ohio was wiping out a 34-28 halftime deficit to take a 41-40 lead. His three-point play then put DePaul ahead for keeps.

Bunk Adams of Ohio matched Carl's 26 counters.

Elsewhere on the Buckeye scene, Ohio Wesleyan whipped Heidelberg 74-64, Akron smothered Muskingum 86-51 and Capital tripped Otterbein in overtime 66-61 in Ohio Conference tilts; Bluffton broke into the Mid-Ohio league win column after five loop losses by nipping Cedarville 72-70, and Western Reserve tightened its hold on second place in the Presidents' Conference by defeating Allegheny 88-64. Baldwin - Wallace left the state and came from behind to win 66-59 over Eastern Michigan.

Ohio Wesleyan ran its conference record to 8-1 as it staved off determined Heidelberg bids in the second half. Larry Washburn's 23 points were high for the Bishops. A couple of jump goals by John Pride and the exit of three Otters on fouls sparked Capital in the extra period that produced the Lutherans' seventh triumph in 10 games over - all. Akron bombed Muskingum with 17 straight points to turn a 10-5 lag into a big lead and put the Zips en route to a handy win.

Civil War History Proves Editor To Be Dead Wrong

By BILL MILLER
Editor, Logan Daily News

LOGAN, Ohio — A hundred years ago, our ancestors in the little village of Logan were wide awake to the threat of civil war but they still hoped war could be averted.

South Carolina had seceded and named a cabinet of its own. Ft. Sumter was besieged, and a few forts and arsenals had been seized by militia in Georgia, Alabama and Florida. Actually, the first shots of the war had been fired at the Federal troopship, Star of the West, but the news had not yet reached Ohio.

Charles M. Gould, editor of the Hocking Sentinel, weekly forerunner of the Logan Daily News, was no alarmist:

"The news from South Carolina are not of exciting importance. We think things have arrived at that point where there will be no disposition on her part to travel as fast as heretofore. Matters will be left to stand where they are for a while."

As it turned out, Gould was dead wrong, as editors sometimes must be, but his calm in the face of catastrophe is worthy of note.

There were no bulletins or bold headlines on Page 1 of the Sentinel. Almost the only front page mention of the war threat was a long poem, clipped from a Philadelphia paper, "An Appeal to South Carolina,' with this ominous ending:

"May He in mercy spare out land
From woes now darkly pressing.

Much of Page 1 was devoted to patent medidine advertisements, and a two-column romantic tale, "History of a Dead Love. If the medicines were not as effective as claimed, at least the copy was interesting, and the diseases of that day more colorful. Main ailments, apparently, were the ague and scrofula, or the Kings Evil.

Another Page 1 masterpiece tells "How to Keep Potatoes. The Sentinels masthead, complete with legal threats to delinquent subscribers, takes up much of the prime space along with a Logan business directory.

If there was trouble brewing, Editor Gould knew what was behind it. These were "Lincoln times, and the "Black Republicans were to blame for everything, with "prosperity departing and panic holding universal dominion.

"The Black Republicans gained the ascendancy in the state by promising to reduce the taxes, and yet they have largely increased them, mourns the editor, a staunch Democrat, on Page 2.

While at first glance the Sentinel appears unaware of the main stream of events, its unexcited coverage of the national situation was fairly comprehensive.

There were several reports from state capitals, where the real news was being made in those days. Governors and legislatures of the North were discussing the threatened secession of Southern states and pledging their support to the Union. The state took themselves seriously in those days, as they needed to do, for there was not much leadership from Washington. Lincoln was not yet inaugurated, and even the Sentinel had heard the rumor that the Secessioists planned to capture Washington and prevent his taking office.

According to Gould, the Coal Oil Rangers and the Lincoln Wide-Awakes were busy in Logan. "A. J. Wright and Capt. Bowen are gathering up their forces and Gould suggests that all Black Republicans might well prepare to join them.

He reprinted a Cincinnati Enquirer dispatch which deals with an "idle and impractical dream of the Republicans to acquire Mexico as a replacement for the Southern states, if all should secede. In the same column he provides his readers with solemn advice on "The Cause of Imbecility.

In his clocal notes, Gould reports a salute of 33 guns was fired in Logan on Tuesday, Jan. 8, in favor of the Crittenden Compromise and the Union.

"Our people are for concession, and if needs be will shoulder a musket in support of the Union and the rights of the states, but never for sectionalism and coercion.

It had been a mild winter, and there were fears that the ice crop might be short. (In those days ice was cut in the winter and stored for summer use).

"We hope, in addition to disunion, we are not to be deprived of spiritual comfort withen the meltin days arrive, says Editor Gould.

Wheat was selling at 80 to 85 cents a bushel in Logan, and N.H. Van Vorhes, Esq., had just retired as editor of the Athens Messenger much to the satisfaction of Editor Gould. "We hope his mantel (sic) has fallen upon one who will not be so unscrupulous as has been Van.

To confirm his own opinion, Gould reported the widow of a Revolutionary hero living near Logan, who was over 100 years old, did not think there would be any war. She recalled before the Revolution there appeared in the heavens "troops of armed warriors, companies of cavalry and other signs, none of which she has seen lately.

This same widow, he said, had been entitled to a pension for more than 60 years, but never got it, proving that the Republic was not so grateful as some people seemed to think.

State Treasurer Opens Third Year in Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson begins the third year of his four-year term Thursday, he will set a state record for length of service as an elected official. He will enter his 19th year in state office, surpassing the record of 18 years set by Ralph Osborn, a Republican, who was auditor from 1815 to 1833. Ferguson, a Democrat, who started his present term as treasurer Jan. 12, 1959, was state auditor for 16 years.

Canton Barber Shop Charges Dismissed

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Charges against Leland W. Moore, of violating an ordinance limiting hours of barber shops, were dismissed Tuesday after Municipal Judge Adolph Uger declared the 1934 ordinance unconstitutional. The ordinance limited operating hours to 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The ruling was based on an Ohio Supreme Court decision in 1943.

Wandering Waistline Back In Spring Fashion Designs

By JOY MILLER
AP Womens Elitor

NEW YORK (AP)—In the predictable way of prodigals, the wandering waistline has come home again.

For spring a notable number of New York designers have put the waist back where nature always has thought it belonged. They've indented and shaped and nipped —for greater emphasis.

But that formality over with, they seem to have turned their attention from form to fabric.

In the second afternoon of press week, more than 200 visiting fashion reporters Tuesday saw spring collections of the New York couture group feature fitted waists in new fabrics and new fabric combinations.

The fabrics seemed practical and highly wearable too, unlike some of last seasons materials that had you gasping — first at their fabulous opulence, then about where you'd wear them.

The pet of Arthur Jablow and his designer David Kidd was a domestic silk and wool fabric with a slight sheen, and reputedly pretty indestructible called mergino (soft G). It was shown in a series of handsome suits and jacket and dress ensembles, in charcoal, castor (a brown shade) and black.

Jackets came in varying lengths with the cropped jackets hitting just below the waist but standing away from the body. Blouses and bodices were colorful prints to contrast or match the solid colored skirts and jackets.

The Jablow skirts were slim, but cleverly engineered darts and pleats around the waist lent a rhythmic ease to walking. They reached below the knee, too. Unlike some of his couture confreres, Jablow finds an exposed kneecap unfashionable.

The Pattullo-Jo Copeland collection also made much of fabrics, especially in playing one against another in the same dress: crepe in front and pure silk taffeta in back, for example. In a black and white plaid worsted ensemble, the dress waist tie and jacket lining were lilac silk.

Jo Copeland likes skirts slim but with movement. She likes jackets for spring not to have a closing, especially, she says, when the dress underneath is too pretty to hide.
